Accelerated machine qualification

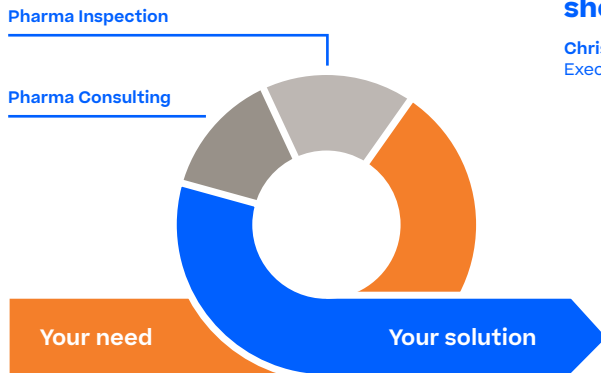

As a pharmaceutical manufacturer, you expect your new Körber machine to be up and running as quickly as possible, regardless if it's an inspection or a packaging machine. At the same time, proper commissioning, qualification, and validation processes are key to achieve and maintain a validated state for the new equipment. To ensure a smooth, controlled, and efficient overall project, from first contact until go-live, trust in Körber.

Executive Vice President Sales Inspection

How we support you

- Profit from technical and regulatory expertise at any point, whether you need guidance during the design phase, support during process validation, or both.
- Rely on optimized qualification activities from regularly trained experts specialized in Körber machines.
- Enjoy close communication between the project management team, qualification, and supplier of the system for a smooth collaboration.
- Trust in proven templates, trainings, procedures: possibilities beyond test execution.
- Experience project planning that allows for precisely timed qualification and validation phases matching the mutually agreed go-live date to minimize downtime.

Why we are the right partner for you: the LOCK approach

Leverage

The close cooperation of all parties involved results in better control and expedites all steps and activities during commissioning and qualification.

Organize

As we are Körber equipment experts, we exactly know how to minimize time and how to optimize effort. This knowledge we use to your benefit.

Coordinate

Working closely together, we track actions daily, utilizing efficient channels while remaining independent and fully committed to your needs.

Knowledge

Our qualification experts are regularly trained on your future equipment, thus guiding you from the design to the go-live.

“We deliver the difference in pharma by providing qualification services that go beyond documentation and test execution. We care for seamless interaction between the machinery delivery and your project.”
